Later a three course luncheon was served by the hostess. Those present were the Misses Irene Teschke, Ada Ritze, Cora Borell, Alice Teschke, Lucile Ackermann, Gladys Ritze, Eva Milan, Margaret Iverson, Ella Johnson and George VanDyne.

DINNER FOR MR. KEMP.

Hildebrandt at her home on Twenty-fourth avenue and Sixteenth street, entertained last evening at a dinner party for Frank Kemp, whose marriage with Miss Esther Gannon is an event of the week. Gannon, Mrs. John Pepping and Miss Martha Bredar and Fred Cox, Bert Cannon and John Kemp of Sank City, Wis. Mr. Kemp was showered with hose by the company. SHOWER FOR MISS TRENT.
Miss Linnie Clark entertained a dozen girl friends at her home on Arlington avenue, Davenport, at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Laila Trent, who is to be a bride of the coming month, the guests being a dozen of the intimate girl friends of the bride-to-be.

The gifts had been arranged for presentation as a "Monday shower," a clothes line in the parlor holding the collection of dainty and useful remembrances brought by the girls, and Miss Trent was given a prettily trimmed clothes basket and told to "take in the washing."

An evening of sociability was followed by supper, the table having yellow and white decorations in profusion of flowers from the garden, in many hues nasturtiums, brown-eyed Susans and trailing white clematis. The guests found their places by means of characteristic and appropriate favors which pertained in some way to their vocation, and the place cards were original personal verses. There were tiny crystal candle holders at each place and the room was lighted entirely by candles for the supper hour.

Miss Hazel McMahan will entertain Sept. 23 at a party for Miss Trent, and Mrs. Frank Gillmore of near Dixon and her sister, Miss Duthetta McCosh of Bridge avenue, Davenport, will together give a party in her honor on a near future date.

SIMONSON-FICKE ENGAGEMENT.
Announcement is made of the engagement and approaching marriage of Devore N. Simonson of this city and Miss Alice Frances Ficke of Davenport.

The engagement was made known by Miss Ficke to a few of her most intimate girl friends whom she invited informally to luncheon Saturday at her home on Main street, Davenport, Miss Ficke making the announcement at the luncheon table. There were all the dainty appointments of flowers and Ward roses being used in decoration.

Miss Ficke is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ficke. After completing her studies at the Davenport schools she finished at Miss Duffie's school in Springfield, Mass., and has traveled extensively with her parents both in this country and abroad. She is decidedly popular with all who know her, and is one of a circle of young women of the social set of the city, which has done so much towards establishing and maintaining the children's and nursery departments of the Ladies' Industrial Relief society.

Mr. Simonson, who is a well known young attorney of Rock Island, comes of an old Port Byron family. He is a graduate of Amherst and of Harvard law school and has been practicing law in this city for the past three years.

No date is set for the wedding.

The whites won in the contest, and they were tendered a banquet by the purples Saturday evening at the church parlors. The rooms were made attractive with decorations of purple

Principal A. J. Burton of the Rock Island high school received a telegram this morning from Miss Alma Buehlig stating that she arrived Sunday in New York City from Europe and would reach this city the latter part of the week.

Miss Buehlig, who is one of the local teachers in the high school, was traveling in Europe when war was declared. For several weeks Principal Burton received no word of her whereabouts and for a time fear was expressed as to her safety. However, the telegram sets all doubts to rest and she will be back at her work in this city by the end of the week.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am 18 years old and considered pretty. I weigh 155 pounds. Do you think that is too much?

(2) Will you tell me why it is that I have never had a steady fellow? I have had a lot of boys take me to and from places, but I never have had one for steady company. They don't seem to care for me.

(3) Do you think it is proper to let every fellow who takes you home kiss you good night?

(4) Is it right to let a boy hug and kiss you all he wants to when you are out with him? I don't allow this very much. Do you think that is why the boys don't seem to care for me?

(5) What is the best thing to talk about when dancing?

(6) Can you tell me anything to take away warts? I have them on my fingers.

(7) Can you give me a recipe for caramel filling for cake?

(8) Can you give me a recipe for cream puffs?

VICTORIA.

(1) Without knowing your height I cannot say, but unless you are very tall it is more than the average girl of 18 weighs.

(2) I should not let the matter worry me, my dear; there is plenty of time for beaux later on. As you grow older you will become more interesting. Perhaps the boys you have in mind are not very much worth while. Look them over and see whether you are really missing much.

(3) No, emphatically.

(4) You have been making a great mistake and have been cheapening yourself by permitting them such liberties. I should not wonder if that were the reason why the boys lost interest in you so quickly.

(5) There are no special subjects that I know of. Be natural and talk of those things which are of interest to your partner. Avoid such stale topics as the weather, the music, the condition of the floor, etc. In the new dances there is not much breath left to talk as a rule. If it is hard for you to converse, why do you not learn a lot of new steps. You will be popular in showing them to your friends, and conversation will come easy.

(7) Kerosene applied every day will dry them up and in time remove them. If this does not help, I will be glad to give you a more severe remedy.

Caramel Filling—One and one-third cups sugar, two-thirds cup grated maple sugar, one-half cup butter, two-thirds cup cream. Mix ingredients and boil 13 minutes. Beat until of right consistency to spread.

(8) Cream Puffs—Melt a half pound of butter in a pint of scalding water, and when this boils stir in three-quarters pound of flour. Stir steadily for a minute or until the flour does not stick to the sides of the sauce pan. Remove from the fire. When the mixture is cool whip in, one at a time, eight eggs beaten very light. Set on the ice for an hour. Line pans with buttered paper and drop the mixture by even spoonfuls at regular intervals—far apart—upon this paper. Bake in a hot oven until the puffs are a golden brown. When cold, cut a slit in each and fill with a cream made by the following recipe:

Cream Puff Filling—Thicken a cup of hot milk with three tablepoons of flour wet to a paste with cold water. When it has boiled for a minute and is free from lumps, remove from the fire and pour upon three eggs, well beaten with a half cupful of powdered sugar. Stir over the fire to a thick smooth cream, remove, flavor with vanilla, and when cold fill the puffs.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) There is a boy friend who promises me faithfully that if I would kiss him he would stop smoking cigars. I think he would keep his promise. I am over 14. Do I do right not to let him?

(2) Am I too old for my class? I am a freshman.

ANXIOUS.

(1) Yes. (2) No.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
Use molasses and alcohol to take out grass stains and lemon juice with salt for mildew patches.

It is well to have your sheets and tablecloths folded width ways occasionally instead of length ways, as this prevents the fold from always coming in the same place and thus causing that place to wear out first.

A cement for broken china that is so strong that articles mended will not break in the same place again, is made by dissolving half an ounce of gum arabic in two tablespoonfuls of boiling water, add plaster of paris until it is a thick paste.

THE TABLE.
Corn bread—Dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in two spoons of hot water; add to it one-half pint of sour milk; stir till it foams; beat two egg yolks and add it to the milk, then one cup of cornmeal, one-half cup of flour, one-half teaspoonful salt; beat well, then fold in the beaten whites. Bake in gem pans thirty minutes.

German Crullers—Beat two eggs without separating; add one-half cup of sugar; dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in a tablespoon water; add to it one-half pint of sour cream; add one teaspoon vanilla and some grated nutmeg; mix in three cups of flour; roll out and cut it in crullers and fry in hot fat.

The Best of All Cakes—Dissolve one teaspoon of soda in one tablespoon of warm water; add one cup of sour cream, one-half cup of New Orleans molasses, one cup of brown sugar; stir till all mixed well; all three cups of flour, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half nutmeg grated, saltspoon of ginger; beat again. Then stir in one pound of raisins that have been floured. Put in bread pan and bake one hour. This is equal to most fruit cakes and does not contain eggs or butter. It should stand three or four days before cutting.

Grape Pie—Grape pie is a delicacy little appreciated. It is really equal to any other fruit pie. To make it, press the grapes through a fine sieve, to remove seeds. Sweeten the pulp and use to fill a two-crust pie. The pie can be made with one crust, with a meringue, if desired.

Grape Dessert—Put grape pulp, prepared as for grape pie, into sherbet glasses. It should be chilled through. Pipe whipped cream, likewise chilled through, on top and serve.

Grape Parfait—Boil one cupful of granulated sugar with a third of a sieve until water and then add the whites of two eggs and pour the syrup on them slowly, beating all the time, until cold. In the meantime, have ready a cupful of cream, whipped, and whipped with half a cupful of grape pulp, well sweetened, and the juice of a lemon. Fold the two mixtures together and freeze.

Grape Tapioca—This is sometimes called grape soup, and can be served cold or hot in place of soup. It also makes a very dainty dessert and one that can be safely given to an invalid.

To make it press grapes through a sieve until you have a quart. Simmer two cupfuls of water and then add sugar until clear and then add the juice of a lemon and the grape pulp and juice. Add a tablespoonful of tapioca, of the instantaneous variety, or else tapioca that has been softened in cold water. Simmer all together until clear. Serve either hot or cold. If cold, add shaved ice to it.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson.

A Smoke Cloud

WISH I was a cloud, I wish I was a cloud—oh dear how I wish I was a cloud!

The fairy queen of the forest was out walking one evening just at sunset when she heard that sorrowful little voice talking.

She stopped to listen—yes, there it was again—"I wish I was a cloud, I wish I was a cloud" over and over so forlornly!

"Now, who in the world can that be?" exclaimed the fairy queen to herself. "That sounds as if it was down in the ground, but cloud things don't live in the ground!"

"I know they don't and that's just the trouble," groaned the doleful little voice directly under the fairy queen's feet—"Oh I wish I was a cloud!"

"Well, do stop wishing so much and talk to me sensibly about it," exclaimed the queen, half provoked. "Haven't you learned that all the wishing in the world does no good if you just moon around and wish?"

"Oh dear me! Is that so?" groaned the little voice. "Then I can never be a cloud!"

"Maybe you can," said the fairy queen cheerfully, "a great many things can be done if one tries hard enough. But first tell me your name and where you live."

"I am the coal fairy," said the little voice. "My name is Jetty and I live way down in the dark ground. I'm under your feet this very minute."

"Oh, excuse me," exclaimed the fairy queen, stepping hastily aside, "I hope I haven't hurt you!"

"Don't worry, you haven't," answered Jetty pleasantly. "Because I'm so far down in the ground I don't notice your stepping—but oh how I wish I was a cloud!"

The fairy queen looked thoughtful. "What I wish is that you would tell me how you, a coal fairy way down in the ground, ever happened to wish about clouds. How do you even know there are clouds?"

Jetty laughed good naturedly. "I know because the water drops have told me."

"The water drops!" exclaimed the fairy queen. "Where did you see them?"

"On one of these huge smoke clouds, happy little Jetty sailed through the clear blue sky."

"I wish I could help you," said the fairy queen, but all I can think of just now is that you must be the very best coal fairy you can be. I'll come back some day and advise you, and the fairy queen walked away.

In just a year she came back—but Jetty was not there!

For in the year, miners had come and dug the coal out of the ground. Trains had hauled it on a long journey. Stokers had shovelled it into great furnaces. Heat had consumed it, belching forth clouds of black smoke towards the heavens.

And on one of these huge smoke clouds, happy little Jetty sailed through the clear blue sky.
